

Willowed Whispers

Spring Run Creek

At sunset, I stood silently on the path near the north end of Building K. The dominant sound was the creek, only a few feet away, and the birds were distant. The effect seems very real while playing the recording at a low volume in a quiet room.

http://

is.gd/qezero

whisper007.mp3
Plays 10.5 minutes - 9.7 megabytes

← Double-sided tape here →

Prism by William Engstrom Whispers

This panel is hidden after folding

INSTRUCTIONS Print on 24 lb. paper. Cut on dots, fold on hyphens. Begin with bottom edge, cutting only enough below the dots so that they remain visible for when you later trim the sides. Then cut just above the top-edge dots in a similar manner. Next, align the hyphens over the sharp edge of your paper cutter and use finger pressure to score the three folds. Finally, trim both sides on the dots. Fold into a triangle, with the fourth panel behind the first. Use two small pieces of double-sided tape to hold it together.